THE PRODUCE TAX.

Write us down as bitterly opposed to any tax upon produce. The farmer is taxed too much already. He pays a tax upon his land and improvements; a tax upon the team with which he makes his crop; a tax upon his plows and farming utensils, and now to demand an additional tax upon the product of his soil is an unmitigated outrage, which amounts to oppression

When you go to church today, remember that you are not a mere auditor, but one of the performers. If the meeting is to accomplish its true purpose for you, you must engage in the services. Too many persons go to church as they go to a concert or a lecture. But the preacher and the choir are not the only ones who have parts to perform in Sabbath worship, nor the only ones responsible for succes or failure. One might as well let them eat his dinner, as to let them do his praying, and thinking.

And here let us say that it would be an improvement if there were more to join audily in that part of the service which alert, ready to receive the tull see in some places. They are alive and awake, They mean

PRESIDENT HATES.

We like the views expressed helow by the Baltimore Gazette. Its conclusions are in unison with our own; and, as we think, corfeet:

"It is a great mistake to suppose, as some persons and papers are doing, that because Hayes is apparently firm in his resolution to carry out his Southern policy, he is determined to break with his own party and will eventually drift into the opposition ranks. It is equally absurd to imagine that the President's action is based upon the notion of his ability to destroy both the political organizations now in existence, and build upon their ruins a great conservative party com-bining the best elements of the two. That he has courage enough to persist in a course which has alienated some of the most vigorous and influential men in his party, naturally ereates worder in the public mind and excites undisguised alarm among his own partizans. But it must not be forgotten that his administration is yet but a few months old, and that, as yet, he has done nothing inconsistent with his whole lite as a republican leader. We do not believe that he ever contemplated playing the role of John Tyler or Andrew Johnson, and we predict that before six mouths have passed away he will be stronger with his party than ever before since he entered public life. Mr. Hayes is a thorough Republican and he intends to remain one. It he should be deserted and assailed by the great conspirators, who traudulently made him President, there will be plenty of republicans left of the better class who will sustain his policy and endorse his action. Nor will he be able, it willing, to capture any respectable number of Demoerats, either by flattery or plunder. On the contrary, the party which antagonized him in the presidential contest will be more vigorous than ever in opposition, and thus consolidate its strength for a new conflict and a certain victory in the near future. Such being the condition of things, the course of independent men and the independent press of the country is plain. When the President does right he should be promptly applauded. When he does wrong he should be swit-ly and severely condemned." THE ISLAND CITY .- OUR reteelings, instead of being compelled to be governed by other

Stopping at the "Washington," we found the genial and accommodating Mr. E. W. Busy as we were, we found time to call on our old confrere John Levin, connected now with the Galvestonian, and were glad to find him in fine bealth and hopeful spirits.

WILL EXHIBIT AT BRENHAM WEDNESDAY, MAY 23d.

In speaking of this great show the Mobile Register says: "The old saying that 'all shows are alike has no appellation in the case of the Circus and Menagevance, so that people attending at Mobile expected to see sometiling of real merit. They were not disappointed. From the time when the grand procession commenced to move through the streets until the last performance closed at night the city was crowded with pleased and satisfied people. Traveling by rail, and so avoiding the dust seemed to embarass her hereto- and soil of the turnpike, all of the wagons, chariots, trappings and properties looked fresh clean and new, and eclipsed anything ever before seen in Mobile The animals of Mr. Cole are unusually fine specimens, large, healthy and with no trace of the half-domesticated appearance that so much detracts from the interest of many similar exhibitions. Whatever the bill promised was fulfilled.

BEAUTIFUL EXTRACT.-If . we die to-day, the sun will shine : s' brightly and the birds will sing as a veetly to morrow. Business will not be suspended a moment and the great mass will not bestow a thought upon our memo-ries, "Is he dead?" will be the solemn inquiry of a tew, as they pass to their work; but no one will miss us except our immediate connections, and in a short time they will forget and laugh as merrily as when we sat beside them. Thus shall we all, now active in life pass away. Our children crowd close behind us, and they will soon be gone. In a few years not a living being can say, "I remetaber him."-We lived in another age, and did business with those who slumber in the tomb. Thus is life! How rapidly it passes!

A dispatch to the News from Denison, dated may 41th states that Capt, Lee, commanding the post of Fort Griffin, Texas, with a party of forty soldiers and ten Tonkaway Indians, surprised a band of Comanches one hundred and fifty miles west of the post of Griffin, on the 4th inst., killed four and captured six squaws, 69 horses, 12 lodges and a quantity of supsome supplies. Casualties-one negro serjeant killed. These Indians had been depredating on the buffalo hunters, running off their horses, and otherwise harassing them. The success of this scout will be a wholesome lesson to maranders.

Bors and young men some times start out in life with the idea that one's success depends upon sharpness and chicanery.— They imagine if a man is able to "get the best of a bargain," no matter by what deceit and mearness he carries his point, that his prosperity is assured. This is a great mistake. Enduring prosperity can not be founded on c unning and dishonesty. The trickey and deceitful man is sure to full a victim, soon or late, to the influences which are forever working against him. His house is built upon the sand, and its foundation will be certain to give way. Young people can not give these truths too much weight.

THE BARNES HOUSE,-This new house, formerly the Exchange, is situated on Main street, Houston, and is kept by a gentleman who understands new colors. It will never amount his business.
